Welcome to Rothiemurchus

Loved by generations, cared for by you

"National Parks in Scotland are about more than wildlife, more than recreation, more than communities. They are about nature and people working together. Rothiemurchus is a fantastic example of this centuries-old relationship."

David Green

past Convener, Cairngorms National Park Authority

Cairngorms
NATIONAL PARK

“Rothiemurchus has become a name which is etched deep in the consciousness of Scotland and which holds an exceptional place in the natural history of the nation”

Magnus Magnusson KBE

For over 450 years my family and many others have loved this inspirational place. It has been their livelihood, enjoyed, fought over, sung and written about, painted, photographed, filmed and visited, again and again.

Nature and people live in harmony in Rothiemurchus. At its heart lies one of the largest areas of ancient forest in Britain with an extraordinary variety of wildlife that depends on it for survival.

We all care for Rothiemurchus.

Thank you
